Quality care that's all about you

Here at Opal Aged Care, we understand that thinking about or deciding on aged care is never easy. It can trigger all kinds of emotions such as fear, anxiety, guilt, loss or even relief, sometimes all at once. For us, aged care isn't about buildings or 'homes' or a lifestyle choice, it's about empathy, understanding and quality of life. All provided by some of the most experienced and caring people you'll ever meet - staff who are continually training and developing their skills, and who stay with us for the long term to give you the best specialised care.

We also realise that by delivering the highest quality of care, you're free to focus on the thing that really matters - and that's cherishing your time together.
